County budget increases, approved at $14 million

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has approved its 1989-90 budget, which is about $2,000,000 larger than last year.

The board did not, however, set the millage rate. The millage rate, another name for the county's property tax levy, is expected to be set on Sept. 15.

According to County Bookkeeper Ken Walker, most of the increase is included in a fund for new road project construction, which includes only a $1.4 million bond issue for use in paving work planned for various parts of the county.

The remainder of the increase results mostly from a new financing strategy being used in the payment of a reappraisal loan. That fund includes $1,118,000.

Walker has broken the total budget down into four categories, including $8,780,459 in the operating budget; $3,554,000 in debt service; the $1,400,000 in new road projects; and $373,397 for custodial expenses.

The general county fund, which provides money for daily operation and maintenance of county services, totals $4,315,650.

Broken down into departments, it includes totals of $323,741, board of supervisors; $205,836, chancery clerk's office; $77,182, circuit clerk's office; $271,387, tax collector and assessor's department; $68,601, purchasing and inventory; $21,050, superintendent of education; $463,981, building and grounds maintenance; and $21,365, veterans' services.

Also included in the general fund are $43,630, Chancery Court; $107,576, Circuit Court; $85,777, county court; $75,558, Youth Court; $23,000, lunacy court; and $137,441, Justice Court, with some of the court functions actually being performed under the titles of other courts.

Also included are $30,150, coroner and ranger; $65,000, elections; $5,000, other general government expenses; $622,312, sheriff's administrative costs; $24,053, county farm; $75,000, custody of prisoners; $42,101, fire protection; $41,283, civic defense; $4,000,

National Guard; and $1,250, constables.

Under the categories of public works and health and welfare are included $425,000, sanitation and waste removal; $100,000, mental health; $70,000, mosquito and pest control; $5,000, Gulf Coast Women's Center; $10,000 for various public health centers; $11,000 for other health-related costs; $62,412, welfare administration; $10,000, paupers' fund; $2,800, RSVP; $101,053, human resources agency; $10,000, community action agency; $5,200, Hancock County Red Cross; and $30,500, Hancock Medical Center.

Cultural and recreational expenses in the budget total $140,050, with $4,000 budgeted for the Meology drug abuse awareness program.

$22,546 is budgeted for soil conservation, with $37,910 earmarked for the Hancock County Extension Service and $2,000 for other conservation-related expenses.

The supervisors budgeted $57,873 out of the general fund for planning and development, with $22,914 for the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and $6,134 for other economic development efforts.

Funds not included in the county general fund are budgeted as follows: $140,000, port and harbor repayments; $53,000, urban renewal; $410,000, severance tax funds; $356,000, sheriff's tax support; $237,500, county library system; $212,897, Pearl River Community College maintenance fund; $33,500, PRC vocational-technical; $176,000, PRCC new construction; $30,000, Pearl River Basin Development District; $349,500, reappraisal; $196,000, E911; and $103,317, insurance rebate.

Also included in special funds are $1,085,000, road maintenance; $78,100, road maintenance funds for Bay St. Louis; $65,100, road maintenance funds for Waveland; $1,170,000, seawall funds; and $294,792, bridges.

Also included are $164,000, mandatory escrow accounts; $120,000, school bond-related costs; $185,000, Hancock Medical Center interest and bond sinking fund; $537,000, jail interest and sinking;

$1,160,000, interest and sinking; $69,000, fair bond; $230,000, port and harbor airport interest and sinking; $230,000, road project interest and sinking; $33,000, engineering; and $19,500, other fire protection.

Several fire district receive funds through special tax revenues. Funds generated in this manner and expenditures include $32,000, East Hancock; $65,450, Diamondhead; $16,250, Kiln; $19,650, BaySide Park; and $5,125, Fenton.

No negative or positive comments were made at the public hearing on the budget proposal.

Pollution control head confirms ASRM hearing

BY DENA BISNETTE

State Representative J.P. Compretta said Friday that there will be a public meeting about the possible environmental impacts of the Advanced Solid Rocket Motor testing program, but a date has not been set.

Compretta, said he received a letter from Charles H. Chisholm, director of the Mississippi Department of Natural Resources' Bureau of Pollution Control confirming that a meeting would be conducted in the Bay St. Louis area.

The letter stated that the meeting's purpose is "to explain our permitting procedures and to also better understand the public concern."

In the letter, Chisholm stated, "We will establish the meeting date shortly and I expect we will hold the meeting before late September."

"I had requested a public hearing be held as soon as possible," Compretta said. "The Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control is the state regulatory authority, which has the primary authority for issuance of the environmental permit."

The permit in question deals with preventing the deterioration of air quality in the area surrounding the testing program, which will be based at John C. Stennis Space Center.

"I am still concerned about the possible long-term effects of this testing, which may be irreversible," Compretta added. "I would encourage citizens of Hancock County to attend the meeting and express their views on this proposal."

Favre miffed over public's absence at budget hearing

BY D.C. HARVILL

Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre is disappointed. The city threw a public hearing for the city's 1990 budget Thursday evening and nobody showed up.

"I would like to think they have so much confidence in us they feel they can rely on us to do what is best for them. But I would really like to see some faces, even if they just show up to see what is going on," Favre said.

Thursday's hearing was an official budget hearing which, by law, the city is required to hold. To provide residents with as many opportunities to comment on the proposed budget, the administration this year also is conducting public budget workshops in each of the city's four districts this week.

The times and locations of the workshops are:

District One—7 p.m. Monday at the American Legion Hall, Green Meadow Road.

District Two—7 p.m. Thursday, Hancock County Library, Highway 90 (Ulman Street entrance).

District Three—7 p.m. Wednesday, St. Rose Cafeteria, Necaise Avenue.

District Four—7 p.m. Tuesday, VFW Home, Third Street. "Hopefully they will show up at the district meetings," the mayor said.

The mayor, district councilman and city department heads will be available at the workshops to answer questions and receive comments from the public.

The public is urged to attend one or all of the workshops, the mayor said.

Three qualify for DA race

Three people have qualified as candidates in the November 7 District Attorney election being held to replace Glenn Cannon, who resigned in March after pleading guilty to bankruptcy charges.

Former District Attorney Cono Caranna, Biloxi attorney Robert Acevedo and Biloxi financial planner Tom Sumrall had qualified for the race before the qualification deadline passed Friday afternoon.

The DA's office being filled serves Hancock, Harrison and Stone Counties.

Caranna, 46, served as district attorney from December 1983 until December 1987. He said he is running for the office again because he is interested in public service.

Acevedo, 56, a 24-year law veteran, said he is running to give the people of the district and the office the respect they deserve.

Sumrall, 54, who practiced law for 17 years, said restoring public trust in government would be one of his goals in office.

Livestock in city limits protested by petition

BY D.C. HARVILL

There will be no horsing around in Bay St. Louis if one group of residents have their way.

The group has filed complaints and a petition with the city requesting removal of three horses and a donkey from the Spotorno family property in the block bounded by Hancock, Washington and Citizens Streets and Beach Boulevard.

Several of the petitioners, at Tuesday's City Council meeting, were assured the horses would be removed.

"We have had five or six complaints from the neighborhood surrounding the property," Mayor Edward Favre said. After receiving the complaints in mid-August, the mayor notified the Spotornos that they have 30 days to remove the animals, he said.

"I have been assured that the horses will be removed," Favre said. The city is scheduled to take the case to court on September 13 if the horses are not removed by the 30 day deadline.

"Since putting them (the horses) there, I received a very nice letter from Mayor Favre saying we have to move them," said Eva Spotorno, owner of the property where the horses are being kept, when contacted by telephone.

Spotorno said the horses belong to one of her daughters and a son-in-law.

"When they wanted to put the horses back there, they went to the nearest neighbor, Vera Blaize, and asked if it would be okay. She said it would be fine. Another neighbor on Citizen Street said, 'How nice.' So we put the horses back there," Spotorno said.

According to Spotorno, one of the horses was a mustang adopted through the federal government's adopt-a-horse program.

Blaize, and approximately four other ladies, approached the council about the horses at their August 21 meeting.

"All the neighbors went down to complain," Blaize said when contacted by telephone earlier this week. When asked what

Reflections On Life

B. Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Life's Titanics are numerous

To a minority of us most of the time, to many of us much of the time, to most of us some of the time, it seems that our personal pursuit of life amounts to a continuous polishing of the brass ornaments on the Titanic. Or, in the words of a distraught U.S. congressman, our frenzied activities in life seem focused on arranging chairs on the Titanic.

We have plenty of activity in our lives, but it often seems to be going nowhere, or, worse still, it may seem to be moving us in reverse. On balance, it is simply amazing how many Titanics one hears of constantly from most people willing to talk. Though there are some who don't feel the need to talk because they are content, most who don't complain are mainly just fronting off.

Usually, much more candid are the remarks by the distressed:

"I have nothing to live for. There's nothing in life for me. I would just as soon be done with all these hassles of my life."

Perhaps the most striking thing about these quotations is that they do not come from any one sector of life or from any one group of people. Some of the wealthiest, the healthiest and the most successful people say virtually the same things.

If that doesn't sound like the titanic after its encounter with the iceberg, nothing does. The people who speak those words shift, but the words themselves vary only marginally. It almost sounds like the moans of the slaves as they sang: "Soon will be done with the troubles of the world. I'm going to live with God."

As usual, marriage, the goldfish-bowl vocation, is among the first relations to cross our thoughts when we address life situations which give us that sinking feeling. Sporting a 50-50 mortality rate to begin with, the marriage scene presents a bruisingly tough scenario in which to live, thrive, and succeed at love.

Courtship and wedding bells present marriage as an electrifying union of love, of sharing, of companionship and of a future built together with two total energies as one. This ship seems completely equipped and ready to set sail on the seas of life.

Then come the icebergs. Probably the biggest iceberg—and the most submerged and insidious—is complacency. Once a couple is married, they tend to begin taking one another for granted, not bothering to keep themselves attractive, and not taking pains to be sensitive to the spouse's little needs and inclinations.

That iceberg is usually enough to torpedo a marriage, but there are more, such as what may be the second biggest: ego. Deflated egos, inflated egos, tender egos and abrasive egos are usually folded into a lethal mix which threatens all human relationships and marriage in particular.

Together with the pains of selfishness, the anguish of cruelty, the anger of verbal abuse, the bitterness of physical abuse, the loneliness of neglect, and the emptiness of non-communication, that lethal mix of complacency and ego drives 50 percent to jump ship and many others to wish it.

Being the paradigm of all human life that it is, marriage, with its strengths and foibles, is reflected in the bishop who is married to his diocese, the priest to his parish, the worker to her/his job.

These as well may feel that, as they are sailing on the Titanic, they should end their relationship, as the black priest who decided that jumping ship was not enough; so he built his own.

All of us humans, whether we cannot jump ship or simply will not, must remember that Jesus is the only Lifesaver in existence.

cause flu change so frequently, individuals should be vaccinated every year. This year's influenza vaccine provides protection against the current prevalent strains of flu: A/Taiwan/1/86, A/Shanghai/11/78 and B/Yamagata/16/88. All viruses in the vaccine are killed so they cannot infect anyone.

Immunizations are available from family physicians or the local county health department.

Flu shots available at health department

With scorching temperatures still heating up the state, Mississippians have few notions of winter weather and all it brings. Ideas for remedying colds and the flu remain in the back of most everyone's mind.

But the Mississippi State Department of Health urges the public to start thinking about cold temperatures and getting immunized for influenza.

County health departments statewide have begun the annual influenza effort. The Hancock County Health Department has scheduled flu shots to be given Mondays and Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Influenza, a viral infection of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs, spreads by person-to-person contact through droplet infection.

Symptoms include fever, chills, headache, muscle pain, tiredness, mild sore throat, inflammation of the nasal passages, and often, soreness and aching in the back, arms and legs.

State Epidemiologist Dr. Ed Thompson says those who do not want to get the flu should be immunized. He believes this is especially important for certain people.

"Influenza poses particular problems for the elderly or those with chronic heart or lung diseases," Thompson said. "Influenza in such individuals can be a more serious or even life-threatening disease because of the greater likelihood of complications, such as pneumonia."

According to the Surgeon General, more than 80 percent of the excess deaths attributed to influenza epidemics occur among persons 65 years of age or older. Attack rates during outbreaks in nursing homes are as high as 60 percent, with fatality rates of 30 percent or higher.

Although flu season extends from October through April, for the last several years, Mississippi's season has peaked from January to March. Physicians report hundreds of influenza cases each year during these times. Death certificates listed influenza as cause of death for 15 Mississippians in 1988.

Because the viruses that

The last hunter safety class scheduled this year by instructor Antoine Boyd will be conducted on September 19, 21, 22 and 23.

Everyone born after 1972 must have a hunter safety course certification before they can purchase a hunting license. Preregistration is required and a minimum of 10 students are needed in order for the free classes to be conducted.

Boyd recommends that hunters not wait to take the course at a later date because most hunter safety instructors on the Coast are closing their classes for the year due to the opening of hunting seasons.

By Dena Bisnette

Have I lost my keys again, or is it just my mind this time?

"If it had been a snake, it would have bitten you." Does that expression sound familiar?

How about, "I had it just a minute ago," "I know it's around here somewhere" and finally, "Well, it will turn up eventually, but I need it right now."

If you say these things often, you're like me. You misplace things. You don't lose them because you know they'll be found—but not until after you need them.

Keys are the worst of all. The only thing I'm sure I'm losing is my mind when I have my car keys in my hand, stop briefly to deal with some little distraction, then have to run back indoors to get the keys before I can go anywhere.

I suppose I come by it honestly. I remember Dad asking me on many occasions to help him find the billfold that spent more time stuck between the cushions of his favorite chair than it did in his pocket.

I also remember being lifted into a window a couple of times to go unlock a door.

I turned out just like that, only worse. I don't look for keys, I look for a lump under the stuff on my desk. If the lump isn't my set of keys, it's something I needed to find anyway.

One time I bought one of those little "key-finder" gadgets that's supposed to beep if you whistle, but was quickly forced to abandon it. I couldn't whistle at the right pitch, but my dog could hit it every single time he barked.

Now I just hang a lot of stuff on the keyring in hopes it will make my keys more visible,

I work with a couple of people who do the same thing. Both of them lose their keys because they leave their stuff around.

Jeff, for example, also leaves cigarettes, eyeglasses, pens, lighters and his hat, if he happens to be wearing one that day. The folks at the office ask around about keys, but the other stuff gets deposited on his desk—even if it doesn't belong to him.

The funny thing about him is he never has any stories to tell about getting locked out of places.

I do. I can break into my own car in under two minutes. I also know who will let me borrow their "slim jim" tools and how to use one.

People who lock themselves out of their cars usually look like fools, but when I had to unlock my car at a nice affair in Diamondhead, using a slim jim in front of people who had never seen one, I felt more like a juvenile delinquent.

I only moved up to "fool" after a charitable lady was kind enough to call me "resourceful."

I also feel like a criminal when I have to break into my house. The house is old and windows happen to be on the floor, a chair, or anything under two feet tall, my troubles are over.

At least I can get help—sometimes. One of my dogs, Corky Scott, understands when I say, "Bring me the key." If the keys happen to be on the floor, a chair, or anything under two feet tall, my troubles are over.

If I've left them on anything high, my neighbors get to see the color of my underwear as I climb into the house. My larger dog, Shadow, can reach everything but the top of the refrigerator, but has no idea what a key is.

I lose papers too, which is probably because I have so many of them lying around. I never have understood why the one I want is never in the stack when I want it, but appears there when I have no more use for it.

All this goes on in a house where a blind person can navigate; that person, of course, is me without glasses. My husband learned really quickly that he had better not move my glasses when I've put them down somewhere.

Anything that can be bumped into in the dark, like furniture, can't be moved until I'm home to see where it's being placed.

It's only little stuff that gets lost, and when it turns up later exactly where I thought I put it, I feel like I've gone to the "Twilight Zone."

I'm beginning to form a theory that began with a nightmare about The Sea Coast Echo office, in which all of our small tools like pens, rulers and scissors sprouted little arms and legs and began running and limbing all over the place.

Then, they all hid.

It probably doesn't happen exactly that way, but I'd be willing to bet that scientists someday will find that small objects can animate for short periods of time—just long enough to make people like me think we are losing our minds.

Felicity Street group bands to fight crime

Residents of the first block of Felicity Street in Bay St. Louis have formed a neighborhood organization to help fight crime on their street.

Called The Felicity Street Neighborhood Watch, the organization will not only help residents band together to fight crime, but will be a "truly neighborhood group," said founder and co-chairman Betty Benvenuti.

"Many of my neighbors and I have long felt that neighborhood residents today have lost much of the feeling of belonging, of being part of a community they used to have, the feeling that we should all be concerned and watch out for each other.

"Not only does this concern help prevent crime, it enables us to hold out the hand of friendship to our neighbors when they need help, for whatever reason," she said.

Co-chairing the organization is Lana Noonan. Block leaders are Beth Benvenuti and James Netto.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Monday, Sept. 11 at 114 Felicity Street. She urged all residents of the first block of Felicity to attend. "Get to know your neighbors—you'll enjoy the experience and it will help us all enjoy our neighborhood even more," she said.

Meningitis immunization required for Headstart

The dangers of childhood meningitis and other invasive diseases caused by Haemophilus Influenza Type B (Hib) infection extend beyond the immediate threat to life.

They include serious life-long handicaps such as mental retardation, deafness, paralysis, seizure disorders and impaired motor skill development.

All can require long-term care and interfere with a child's future achievement levels.

All children who spend a portion or most days in child care or group settings, including Headstart, are at risk of invasive Haemophilus Influenza Type

B disease. Therefore, these children must be immunized against this disease.

Headstart children 24 months of age through the fifth year of life, who have not been immunized against Haemophilus Influenza Type B disease, must be immunized.

While Haemophilus B conjugate vaccine (PRP-D) is preferred over Polysaccharide vaccine (PRP), either vaccine is acceptable for this age group.

The vaccine is available at the Hancock County Health Department on Mondays and Thursdays, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with no appointment necessary.

Livestock

the conditions were that prompted the complaints she said, "I don't want to discuss it," and hung up the phone.

"Well, if you've ever been around a stable you can imagine what it is like," said Peggy Gibbons, one of the neighbors who signed the petition and was in attendance at the August 21 and Tuesday's council meetings.

"The (manure) is cleaned up every day and the area is sprinkled with lime. They've even put special rocks out that absorb the odor. I hate to see them go. I hate to see them go because they aren't hurting anybody," Spotorno said.

"These are all rational people, I'm sure they can work it out amicably among themselves," Mike Cuevas, the city's clerk of council said.

One of the ladies questioned whether the city's existing ordinances would be amended to prevent livestock from being kept in the city limits.

The city's current livestock ordinance stipulates that livestock can be kept within the city limits as long as no one living within 300 feet complains.

"I think some parts of town are suited to livestock, as long as neighbors don't complain," Councilman-at-Large James Rutherford said.

The ladies who approached the council also expressed concern about horses being ridden on the city's beaches.

The city's ordinances currently do not forbid riding horses on the beach, according to the mayor.

"The only ordinance pertaining to animals on the beach states that it shall be unlawful for any person to take or permit a dog to be carried into the water from any pier or beach and remain in the water adjacent thereto," Favre said.

The mayor said he has no idea what the intention of the ordinance is.

Promote Hancock County—
join the Chamber today

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce since 1935 has provided a vital role in the everyday lives of the citizens of this community.

Membership in the chamber joins hundreds of business and community leaders who want to see this county continue to prosper.

Many of the chamber's accomplishments are not seen and cannot be weighed in dollars and cents.

The chamber is, in the majority of cases, the first contact Hancock County has with a prospective resident, new business or industry.

It receives many inquiries from possible vacationers and requests for historical information, business recommendations, statistical inquiries, and an occasional call asking "Where is the best place to catch fish?" or "What month of the year do the leaves turn?"

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce annually:

- receives more than 8,000 pieces of mail
- has more than 12,000 telephone calls
- has more than 8,000 office visitors
- receives 4,000 tourist inquiries
- receives 10,000 general information inquiries
- receives 4,000 consumer information calls
- has 4,000 housing information inquiries
- has 3,000 market information inquiries
- has 100 or so calls on school information.

The chamber fulfills a role in this county no other one agency is able to provide.

Among the programs provided and events participated in are monthly breakfast meetings, business seminars, Salute to Business and Industry, Christmas parade, retail promotions and educational programs.

Some of the services of the chamber include providing labor and housing statistics, membership directory, street maps, newcomer packets, school profiles, community data profiles and speakers' bureau.

The chamber has 387 members from throughout the area, and we feel they, like we, know the importance of this fine community organization.

The chamber works hand and hand with business toward progress in our community. The Sea Coast Echo has been a member of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce for years. We urge all businesses, organizations and individuals to join us.

For further information, call the chamber at 467-9048.

The budget of a city has a lot to do with the amount of taxes the residents of the area pay.

We always seem to hear from those residents who complain about the amount of taxes they have to pay. The City of Bay St. Louis will conduct workshops this week on the budget, to enable residents to ask questions about the proposed budget which will affect property taxes we pay next year.

The workshops will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. for each district. In case a resident cannot attend the one in his district, he can attend another and give their input.

Monday night's will be for District One at the American Legion Home, Green Meadow Road.

Tuesday night's will be for District Four at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home, Third Street.

Wednesday night's will be for District Three at the St. Rose de Lima Cafeteria, Necaise Avenue.

Thursday night's will be for District Two at the Hancock County Library on Highway 90 (Ulman Street entrance).

The proposed budget submitted at a council meeting last month totaled $5,279,650.

This is a $275,000 reduction over last year's budget and this sounds good, as our administration appears to be interested in saving dollars wherever possible.

Five million dollars is a lot of money and the workshops to be held will be a good time for residents, who have to come up with the tax dollars to foot the bill, to comment. This will give them an opportunity to ask questions about the city's spending.

Along with the mayor and respective council members, department heads will be available at the workshops to receive comments and answer questions.

Our city administration wants public input, and this will be a good time for you to do so.

I will be attending one workshop myself, and I hope others will also.

WASHINGTON
REPORTBy Senator
Thad CochranCochran, Lott announce five-member state ASCS
farm program panel

U.S. Senators Thad Cochran and Trent Lott have announced the appointment of a five-member state committee to oversee and administer federal farm programs.

The two senators said the President has appointed the five persons they recommended to him and the secretary of agriculture for the important Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The five members of the Mississippi State ASC Committee include James T. Estes of Napa, chairman. Estes has been serving as a state committee member and is a cotton farmer and cotton gin operator in Winston County.

Mickey L. Black of Sidon, Black is owner and manager of Holly Grove Plantation in Leflore, Carroll and Holmes counties and produces row crops, cattle and timber.

Robroy D. Fisher of Glen Allan, Fisher is in partnership with his son and daughter in R. O. Fisher Farms in Washington County.

William N. Spight of Ripley, Spight has a row crop operation, in soybeans and cotton, and has raised cattle in Tippah, Union and Benton counties.

"These are excellent appointments to a very important committee involving Mississippi's farm economy," the two senators said. "We are confident they will do a good job in overseeing the administration of federal farm programs in our state."

The appointments are for one-year terms and are immediately effective.

FROM THE
CAPITOLBy Governor
Ray MabusSome government agencies may not ask for budget increase

When was the last time you heard of a government agency not requesting a budget increase from one year to the next?

The answer is probably, "Never." But get ready, because that is about to change.

Since taking office, I have fought for a reduction in the size of the executive branch of state government. This year a reorganization bill passed the Legislature that represents a good start toward paring down the size of state government. Reorganization means better service at less cost.

But actions speak louder than words, and that is why these reorganized agencies will submit no-growth budgets for next budget year.

Each of these agencies are setting priorities, and justifying every expenditure before they seek funding from the Legislature. That is a far cry from how most of state government has worked in our lifetimes.

There is no reason on earth why an agency of government cannot hold the line. Most of you do it every day in your family budgets.

With the exception of new programs mandated by the Legislature, the reorganized agencies will submit no-growth budget requests.

A number of other state agencies headed by individuals appointed by the governor will also submit no-growth budgets.

If we think of Mississippi as a multi-billion dollar corporation, we have to think about running the ship of state as a business.

That means that we can't afford to waste your hard-earned money on endless layers of bureaucracy. You don't need to get the runaround when all you require are answers. Most importantly, if something doesn't go right, someone needs to be held accountable.

Our resources are too precious, and our needs are all too great to waste even one penny of your money. In a nutshell, that is what reorganization is all about.

Waste won't work in state government.

That is why we have taken this important first step to make the way that we do business more effective, efficient and economical.

Another advantage that we are already seeing as a result of state government streamlining is planning. For the first time we are able to take a long-term approach when it comes to important matters like economic development and social services.

For too long we've been handling state government like a Sunday drive, if you don't care where you're going, any road will do.

We need to start managing state government like a person who has a clear destination, if you know where you've got to be, there's only one way to get there.

Through reorganization we won't be able to forecast the future, but planning for it is certainly a lot more productive and a lot more effective than guessing what tomorrow may bring.

SENATEBy U.S. Senator
Trent Lott

Earthquake in Mississippi?

In Mississippi we get more than our fair share of natural disasters. Tornadoes and hurricanes criss-cross our state almost every year. But I must admit that I hadn't given too much thought to the possibility that an earthquake could one day shake our foundation. Perhaps we should all give this idea some additional thought.

The last earthquake to rock Mississippi was in 1812. That one, experts believe, formed the Mississippi River inland. However, many of those same experts agree that Mississippi, particularly northern Mississippi, could be hit again at any time.

According to U.S. Geological Survey, portions of our state lie in the so-called "New Madrid Seismic Zone." This area, along the Mississippi River Valley roughly from the northern border of Mississippi to southern Illinois, today generates small to moderate earthquakes.

In contrast with earthquakes in the western United States, which are usually attributable to geological faults exposed at the surface, the New Madrid earthquakes seem to be associated with an ancient rift in the Earth's crust.

In an effort to learn more about earthquakes, Congress approved the National Earthquake Hazard Reduction Program (NEHRP) in 1977. It mandated those in charge to coordinate earthquake research and to improve earthquake preparedness.

Four federal agencies are involved: the National Science Foundation, the U.S. Geological Survey, the National Institute of Standards and Technology, and the Federal Emergency Management Agency, which took over coordination efforts in 1980.

My inquiries indicate that all of these agencies are doing a good job of fact-finding, however I am concerned that we are not doing enough sharing of that information. As I admitted earlier in this column, I was not aware of the fact that Mississippi is vulnerable to earthquakes.

Only because I now sit on the Senate Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee, which oversees NEHRP, am I being enlightened. If we, or any state for that matter, is in the line of fire, we should know about it. Critical data is useless sitting on a shelf gathering dust.

I think we need to be prepared, just in case. I've asked NEHRP to redirect its attention to research application in the areas of earthquakes and earthquake engineering. I've also asked it focus on public education efforts about the threat of earthquakes and on planning and response.

Of course we all hope and pray that a major quake never does strike Mississippi, but if it does, we want to be ready.

We have all been touched in some way by the fury of natural hazards. Many of us have lost property, some even loved ones. And while we still haven't found a way to control these disasters, we are better prepared today than we've ever been. Only through additional research, study, analysis, and most importantly information application, will we remain that way.

Goff leads HNC Hawks to 26-7 win over PRC

Special to the Echo
By Monica Malley

Hancock North Central's Hawks came out flat in the first half and knew they were in a real ballgame from the first whistle Friday night. The Pearl River Central Blue Devils came to Hawktown with upset on their minds.

The first quarter was head-to-head. PRC tried a field goal, but failed. The quarter ended with an empty scoreboard.

Near the end of the first half, a Casey Davis pass was picked off by PRC's Perry Landrum who ran it from 25 yards out for a touchdown. Mark Montgomery split the uprights for the PAT.

With 5:44 left in the first half, the Hawks scored their first touchdown on a Davis to Terrence Goff handoff. Goff powered his way in from 18 yards out for the score. He also hit for the extra point, knotting the score at 7-7.

The Hawks took control in the second half and dominated the Blue Devils. Goff scored his second TD of the night on a four-yard jaunt with 7:16 left in the quarter. Again Goff's extra point was good. The quarter ended with the score 14-7.

After taking the Hawks on a drive to the Blue Devil one-yard line, Davis went over on a keeper. Goff's extra point attempt was no good.

With 2:34 remaining, senior fullback Tirus Jackson scored on a plunge from the one for the Hawk's final tally. The extra point attempt by Jose Santos, the Hawk's foreign exchange student, failed to make it through the uprights.

Hancock held PRC the rest of the way to take their second straight, 26-7.

"PRC played a good first half. We just couldn't get it together until the second half. Then we dominated in executing our offense, defense and everything," Hawks Head Coach Irvin Favre said after the game.

The Hawks meet the Poplarville Hornets Friday, September 15 at the Hawks stadium, kickoff is 7:30 p.m.

Rock ninth grader's drop opener

For the ninth-grade St. Stanislaus Rockchaws, the 1989-90 football campaign got off to a disappointing start.

Playing the East Central Hornets at East Central, the junior Rocks dropped their season opener 34-0.

"Our kids had the first-game jitters," noted ninth-grade coach Chuck Genin after the game. "We have a lot of new faces on the team, some playing for the first time," Genin said. "With some more practice time and playing time we'll get better."

The Hornets broke open the game early in the second quarter with a 35-yard sprint for a touchdown and a 12-0 lead over the Rocks, and then added another score late in the period for an 18-0 lead at the half.

Next Thursday, the junior Rocks will face the St. Martin junior high Yellowjackets at St. Martin.

IN THE POCKET—Tiger's quarterback Charlie Mitchell drops back, behind his blocking team, to make a pass in the Bay High-St. Stanislaus game Friday.

Bay Area Youth Soccer first meeting is tonight

There will be a meeting for coaches, sponsors, officials and parents tonight, Sunday, Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. at the Waveland Library.

Discussion of the new season will be presented, with registration to be held in September, teams being formed the end of September and actual competition to begin the end of October.

Registration for the new soccer season will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 12, 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Christ Episcopal Church's Virginia Hall in Bay St. Louis and again at St. Clare cafeteria in Waveland, Sept. 14, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Registration will also be held Sept. 16 at Coleman Avenue Soccer Field from 1 to 3 p.m. and on Sept. 19, 21 and 23 at times and locations to be announced.

All boys and girls between the ages of five and 18 are eligible to register to play soccer. The registration fee for Recreational Soccer is $25 per youth. Anyone interested in coaching, refereeing or assisting should attend the meeting Sept. 10. Tryouts for an Under-14

Select Boys team will be held by the Bay Area Youth Soccer Organization today from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Waveland Elementary Soccer Field. Registration fee for Select is $40.

Anyone not selected for the team will be eligible to play recreation soccer and the difference in fees will be refunded. Contact Jerry Ross at 467-9454 for information about the U-14 Select tryouts, or contact Richard Flowers, BAYS registrar, at 467-0474 for any questions concerning the other upcoming registrations.

Rocks roll past Tigers in Friday night game

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Saint Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws dominated the Bay High Tigers in Tiger Stadium Friday night, posting a 34-6 victory, their second consecutive win of the season.

After two penalties and a recovery of their own fumble, the Rocks scored early in the game.

Rock-A-Chaw running back Shannon Garrett returned a Tiger punt to the Stanislaus 35 yard line.

On the next play, the Tigers hopes were raised when they recovered a fumble by Stanislaus' Gary Ponthieux near the 50 yard line. The ball was ruled dead by the officials, however, and the Rocks retained possession.

A false start cost Stanislaus five yards on the next play. A dash up the middle by running back Ken Booker brought the Rocks to the Tiger's 15-yard line, but an offensive holding penalty took them 15 yards back from the line of scrimmage.

Garrett carried a Cedric Smith pitchout to the 10 yard line, where he was driven out of bounds by Tiger defenders.

Bobbling the ball as he squeezed into the endzone, Galen Smith was able to hold on for a touchdown. The extra point attempt by Duncan Matheson was good. The Rocks took a 7-0 lead that would stand throughout the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter, the Tiger's Marcus Martin and Emanuel Antoine, receiving the ball from quarterback Charlie Mitchell, were able to move the ball to the Rock-A-Chaw's five-yard line.

On a hand-off from Mitchell, Antoine dashed up the middle for a touchdown. A Blaine Feurstien extra point attempt failed, leaving the score at 7-6, Stanislaus.

The Rocks dominated the rest of the game. While the Tiger's offense threatened several times, the Stanislaus defense stiffened to prevent them from scoring.

Shannon Garrett took a Cedric Smith hand-off and dashed for a touchdown. The point attempt was good, giving the Rocks a 14-6 lead.

Late in the second quarter, a long pass from Cedric Smith to Galen Smith on the left sideline put the Rocks deep in Tiger territory.

On the next play, Ken Bookertook a hand-off from Cedric Smith and carried in for the touchdown. Matheson placed the ball through the uprights, taking Stanislaus' lead to 21-6 at the end of the quarter.

The third quarter saw the ball change hands several times due to interceptions and fumbles, but neither team was able to score.

In the fourth quarter, a spectacular 50-yard dash by Garrett, up the center of the field, netted the Rocks an additional touchdown, giving the Rocks a 27-6 cushion. The point attempt was no good.

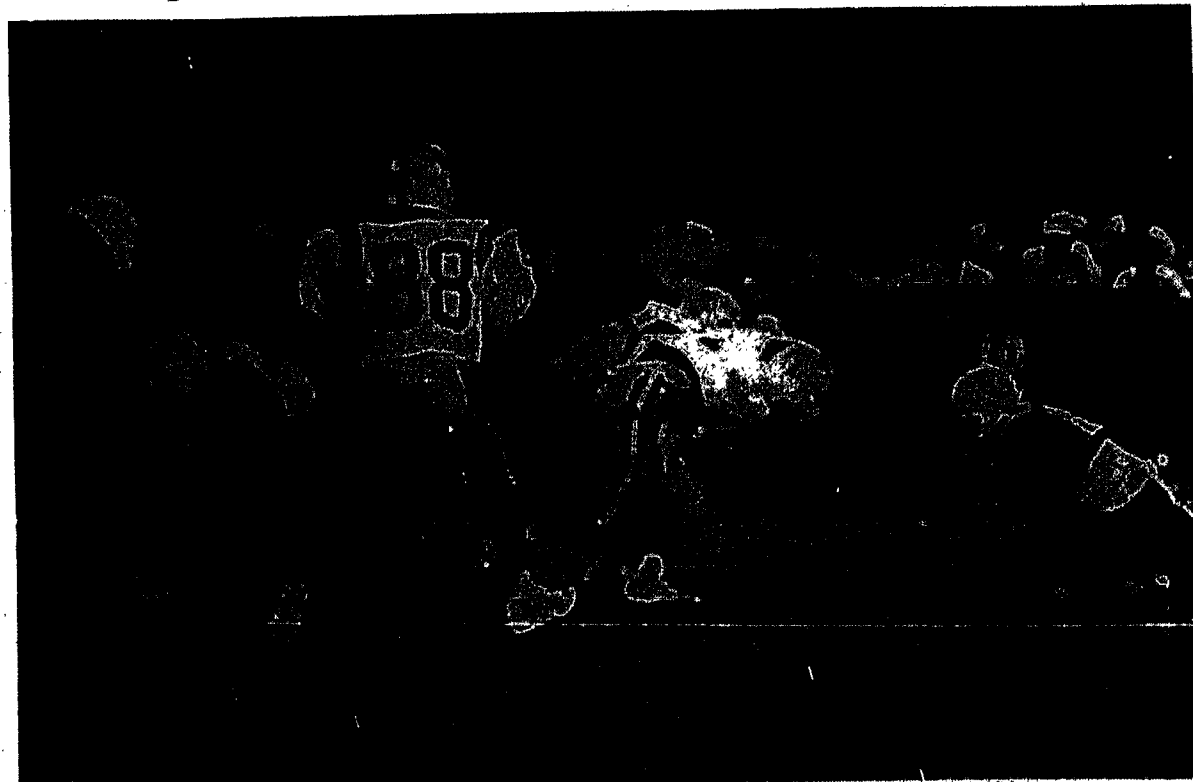

After another Booker touchdown and a successful extra point the game ended with the Rocks victorious. The final score was 34-6.

Next Friday the Rock-A-Chaws meet East Central at 7:30 p.m. in St. Stanislaus Stadium.

Bay High faces Pearl River Central in Tiger Stadium Friday. Kickoff will be 7:30.

GOING—Rock-A-Chaws running back Shannon Garrett outdistances Bay High tackler Scott Rogers in Friday's Bay High St. Stanislaus game at Tiger Stadium.

WHOOPS—Tigers and Rocks players scramble for one of the numerous balls fumbled in Bay High-Stanislaus game. In spite of a number of penalties and fumbles, the Rock-A-Chaws dominated the game, beating their cross-town rivals 34-6.

Manning featured speaker for CFC campaign kickoff

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

Former New Orleans Saints quarterback Archie Manning was the featured speaker at the Combined Federal Campaign (CFC) kickoff held Thursday.

Capt. Herb Lewis, commander of the the Naval Construction Battalion Center in Gulfport, is the chairman for the campaign which includes Hancock, Harrison, Jackson and Pearl River Counties.

Capt. Lewis said a goal of $575,000 has been set for the 25,000 military and civilian personnel in the four counties.

Funds collected in the area counties from the CFC campaign are distributed to the United Ways as well as designated world-wide agencies.

Manning, who resides in New Orleans, emphasized that he was still happy to have played for the New Orleans Saints and the fact he was close to South Mississippi.

Manning said, "You have pride in your community and I am excited about the people you will help."

The CFC drive represents over 300 agencies with 100 of them in the four local counties.

The Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River Counties' United Ways which are combining their campaigns for the first time this year receive heavy CFC support from the John C. Stennis Space Center.

Manning appeared through courtesy of Cellular South.

There were six testimonials given at the kick-off with one coming from Janet Polozola, child birth instructor at the Hancock Medical Center, who is chairman of a task force which implemented the 'Pierre the Pelican' program.

The 'Pierre the Pelican' program is one of the newest agencies sponsored by the United Way of Hancock County. The program provides free monthly newsletters during pregnancy, birth and the child's development until age six.

The Campaign Kickoff for The United Way of South Mississippi is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 14, at the Royale d'Iberville in Biloxi.

The United Way of Hancock County's 1989 campaign kickoff for 1990's funding will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 26, 7:30 a.m. at the Wheel Inn Restaurant.

Waveland considers annexation

Waveland's population may jump by approximately 200 if a plan being considered by the city's board of aldermen goes into effect.

The board received a petition from residents of a neighborhood along Longfellow Drive at the city's northern boundary requesting that they be annexed by the city.

The petition was submitted by owners of property on the south side of Longfellow, between Mississippi 603 and the Waveland-Bay St. Louis city limits.

John W. Wilkerson Jr., who lives on the north side of Longfellow near Chapman Road, said he and most of his neighbors also want to be annexed.

According to Wilkerson, annexation would improve property values in the neighborhood by implementing zoning laws and building codes. No such regulations exist in the county.

Wilkerson also noted that city police could enforce traffic laws on Longfellow, which he said motorists on the street currently ignore.

Before annexation can take place the city must show that it can provide city services (water, gas, sewerage, and garbage pickup) within a reasonable period of time.

Mayor John Longo Jr. proposed that the board also consider annexing the area west of the city limits to Lower Bay Road.

BEEF TIPS

It's time to think about fall and winter planning for your cow herd. Do you have enough hay to last through winter? If you plan to graze your cows this winter, you still may need to plan on feeding your herds for 30 to 60 days if winter pastures become wet and boggy before spring.

Winter feeding is an expense in any beef herd. Plan to work the cows before fall. Check all cows for pregnancy to make sure they are carrying a calf. Don't keep and feed a cow all winter if she is not bred. An open cow is worth more money to you at the stockyards than on your pastureland.

Look at the calving records for last year. How far apart is the birth date of the first calf and last calf born? A short calving season is essential to a profitable cow/calf program. Identify and eliminate late calving cows and freeloader.

VEGGIE FIELD DAY

The annual Fall Vegetable Field Day at Truck Crops Branch Experiment Station in Crystal Springs will be Oct. 26.

This field day is popular with home gardeners across Mississippi. Thousands of people attend the field day last year.

Featured at the field day will be fall garden with hundreds of varieties of peas, tomatoes, peppers, lettuce and other vegetables. A good opportunity to see the latest research in vegetable growing and to ask questions awaits home gardeners in Hancock County.

The station is 25 miles south of Jackson. Take the south Crystal Springs exit on I-55. Turn onto Hwy. 51 and go south 1.5 miles to the station.

I hope to see you there.

Unemployment drops to 8.3%

Mississippi's unemployment rate dropped to 8.3 percent in July as 12,300 more people found employment than in June, bringing total employment in the state to 1,097,400.

"The figures show that the state's economy is continuing to grow in a healthy manner," said Linda Ross Aldy, executive director of the Mississippi Employment Security Commission.

"July represents the largest number of people ever employed in the state," she said.

The increase in employment came despite a 8,500 loss in the number of payroll-based jobs in July. The greatest loss was 5,800 jobs in public education. Heavy equipment, electrical components for automobiles and apparel accounted for most of the 2,600 job loss in manufacturing.

"Manufacturing typically uses the summer months to adjust product inventories by temporary layoffs and vacation scheduling," said Ms. Aldy. A slowdown in the automobile industry, oil drilling and construction nationwide has affected Mississippi's manufacturing jobs.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1989-1B

SECTION B

New ship to be named for Diamondhead man

BY DENA BISNETTE

Mary McDonnell of Diamondhead plans to be there in 1991 when a new Navy hydrographic ship, currently under construction at Halter Marine in Moss Point, is named for her husband, the late Capt. John R. McDonnell, (retired).

Her husband would probably be "absolutely flabbergasted" to know he is being honored in this way, she said, because he was a McDonnell said she has been invited by the U.S. Secretary of the U.S. Navy to christen the ship.

Eventually, Sheila McDonnell, now a geophysicist for NORDA at John C. Stennis Space Center, may get a ride on the new vessel as a survey party member.

The two new ships are 208 feet long and 45 feet across the beam. Each one is designed to carry two 34-foot hydrographic survey launches. The crews will include 22 Military Sealift Command personnel and 11-member survey crews.

The combined cost of the two ships is about $25 million. McDonnell's late husband was best known in Hancock County as the first commander of the U.S. Naval Oceanographic Command at John C. Stennis Space Center, a post in which he served until his retirement in 1981.

Capt. McDonnell's naval career included a number of firsts, his wife stated. Among those is the command of the U.S.S. Dolphin, the first submarine of its kind.

"He loved anything that was a challenge," McDonnell said. "And he liked submarines."

Capt. McDonnell was also drawn to projects involving new, experimental aspects.

"He was a scientist as well as a military officer," his wife explained.

Capt. McDonnell, who died April 10, 1984 at the age of 50, was a native of Parsons, Kan. and was raised mostly in Kansas City, Mo.

After attending Rockhurst High School in Kansas City, where he played on a state championship basketball team, McDonnell was offered a Notre Dame scholarship but instead chose to accept an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md, where he joined a basketball team which at that time was one of the top 10 in the nation.

McDonnell met her husband while he was a student at the academy.

After his graduation, Capt. McDonnell served on two amphibious ships before going into the submarine corps.

During that time, he was stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

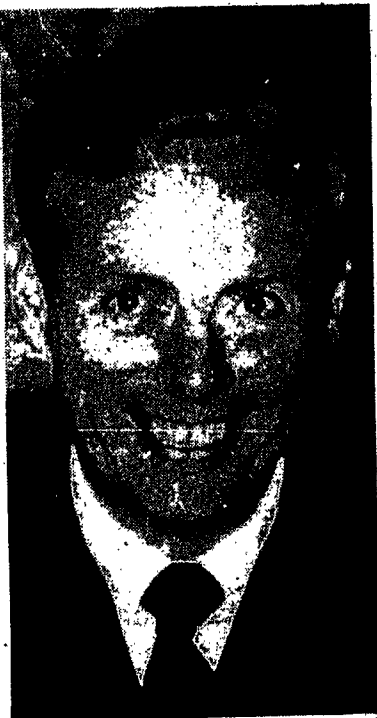

"He served on guided missile subs in the days before before Polaris," McDonnell said. "He was constantly on patrol."

"John was the one who shot the world's first official missile mail. They put mail into a missile and shot it off the sub and it landed in Mayport, Fla.," said McDonnell.

While use of guided missiles to deliver mail remained only an experiment, McDonnell said anything sent by that first missile has become an important acquisition for stamp collectors.

After serving on his first two subs, Capt. McDonnell spent two years at the U.S. Navy's college in Monterey, Calif., getting his master's degrees in meteorology and oceanography.

"It was a tough course," McDonnell said, explaining that at times during his studies, she saw her husband less often than modest man who never spoke much about his own accomplishments.

"I don't know of anybody in our generation, with the exception of one Vietnam hero, who has had a ship named for him," McDonnell said.

"He loved anything that was a challenge, and he liked submarines."

—Mary McDonnell

The keel for the ship, two of which are being constructed, was laid earlier this month. McDonnell was out-of-state attending a wedding at the time, but one of her four children, Sheila McDonnell, represented the family.

when he had been patrolling at sea.

After that, it was back to Hawaii, where McDonnell worked on two more submarines.

The couple liked living in Hawaii.

"It was a wonderful place to raise children, but it was already becoming crowded, even back in the 1960s," McDonnell said.

etch their names on part part of the keel of the new ship to be named in Capt. John R. McDonnell's honor.

After his second stint in Hawaii, Capt. McDonnell was reassigned to Portsmouth, N.H., where the Dolphin was being built.

"John was there for the construction and all the sea trials," McDonnell said. "He loved it; he thought it was exciting."

"While construction was going on, a funny thing happened. My husband was six-four, and they had to increase the size of his bed by four inches. They wouldn't have known that if he hadn't been there."

Because the Dolphin was the deepest-diving operational submarine in the world, McDonnell said everything was different. The submarine was classified as experimental because at that time, none of the vessels which had been that deep were self-propelled. It had a new kind of hull and a new type of battery.

"It was a big thrill for him to get command of that ship, and it was scary, too," she said. She believes his scientific training played the biggest part in his selection for the job.

At the time of his death, Capt. McDonnell still held five world records for deep submergence.

In 1977, he moved to Washington, D.C., as commander of the U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office (NAVOCEANO). He helped move the office down to Mississippi, and about a year later, helped form the Naval Oceanographic Command now operating at Stennis.

"I don't think many people realize how important the command down here is," McDonnell commented. "When he was there, I know it had 13 ships, a squadron of planes, a weather station and a lot more. Basically, it was combining weather with oceanography, and John was especially suited for that."

The four McDonnell children have, to some degree, each followed in their father's footsteps.

David McDonnell, their youngest son, is a nuclear engineer now assigned with the submarine U.S.S. Archerfish out of Bremerton, Wash.; daughter Jeanne Johnson is a U.S. Navy lieutenant; their older son, Daniel McDonnell, is an engineer for Sonalystas, a firm which provides acoustical advice to submarines; and Sheila McDonnell is currently assigned to Stennis Space Center.

"He was a scientist as well as a military officer."

—Mary McDonnell

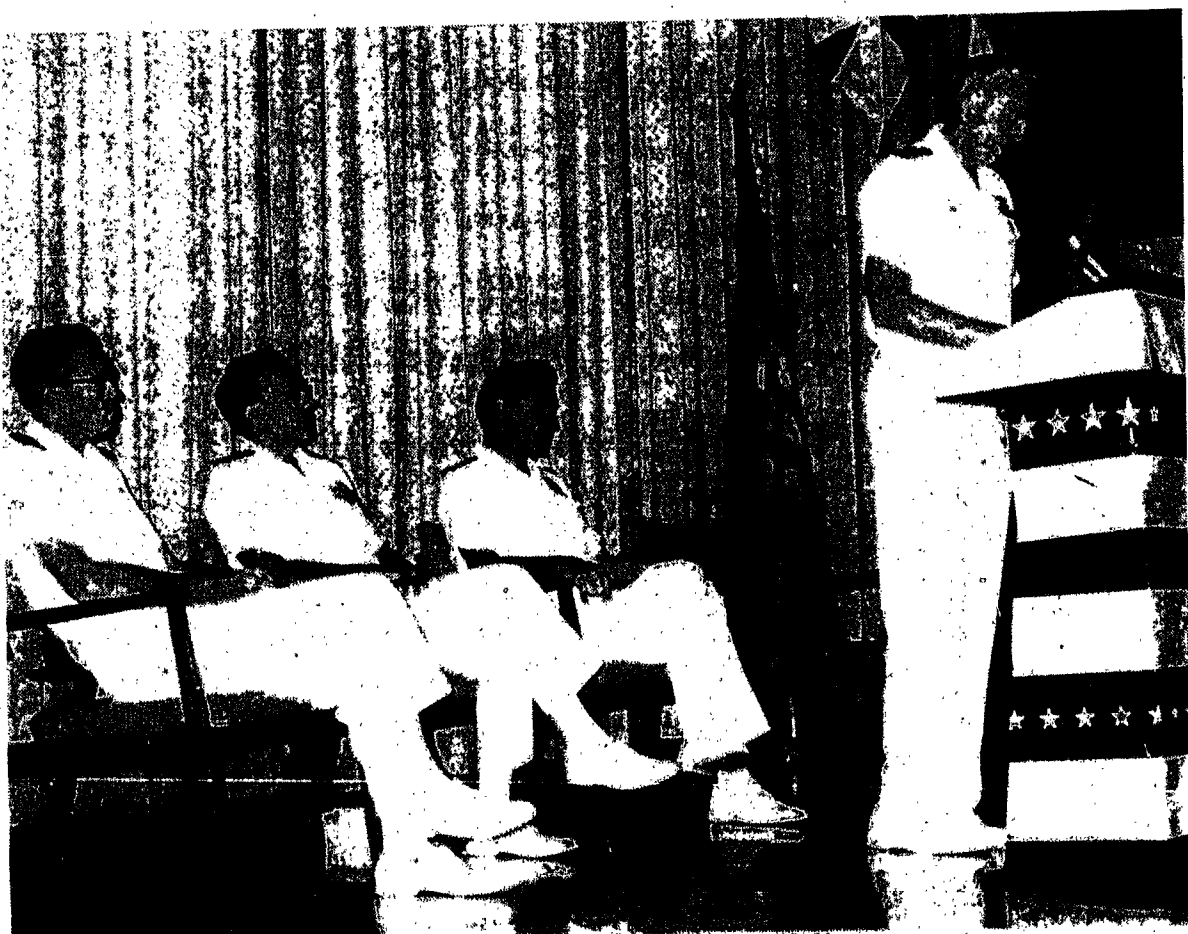

"Of all his accomplishments, the children came first. He was proud of them," McDonnell said of her husband.

After his retirement from the navy in 1981, Capt. McDonnell became plant engineer for the Global Associates for the Michoud Test Facility in New Orleans.

He was also very interested in the Diamondhead community and became active in civic affairs.

"He loved Diamondhead," his wife said, "but I still don't know how he found the time."

Capt. McDonnell coached and managed basketball teams, played in a men's basketball league, became president of Diamondhead Property Owners Association and served on the Hancock Jail Committee.

CHANGE OF COMMAND—Capt. John R. McDonnell addresses the audience as he takes command of the U.S. Naval Oceanographic Office in 1977.

Knowing food labeling helps eliminate confusion

Trying to understand food labeling lingo can be quite confusing. Regulations of the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) and/or Department of Agriculture (USDA) defines terms, and products displaying them must conform to specific standards.

—Lean: No more than 10 percent fat by weight—not by calories.

—Extra Lean: No more than 5 percent fat by weight. Not by calories.

—Leaner: At least 25 percent less fat, by weight, than a comparable product.

—Sodium-free: no more than 5 mg sodium per serving.

—Very Low Sodium: no more than 35 mg sodium per serving.

—Low Sodium: No more than 140 mg sodium per serving.

No Salt Added: No salt added in processing, but the food could have naturally occurring sodium or sodium from sources such as soy sauce or preservatives.

—Cholesterol: In 1986, the Food and Drug Administration proposed defining the following terms:

Cholesterol free: Less than 2 mg per serving.

Low-Cholesterol: Less than 20 mg per serving.

Reduced Cholesterol: Refor-mulated to have 75 percent less cholesterol than the original.

—Enriched: The replacement of nutrients that were lost in processing. Most common is the addition of B vitamins to bread and other grain products.

—Fortified: The addition of nutrients to foods that did not originally contain them. Examples are the addition of vitamins A and D to milk, iodine to salt, and vitamins or minerals to the term "natural" on meat or poultry if no artificial flavors, colors, preservatives or synthetic ingredients have been used.

—Organic: While this term implies that no synthetic fertilizers or pesticides were used in growing or preparing a product, it is not defined by federal regulation. In other words, don't depend on the word "organic" to tell you anything meaningful about a food product.

on the front of the package, while the ingredient list reveals that the cereal has been sweetened with concentrated juices, making it the equivalent of a sugar-sweetened product.

Light/Lite: this multipurpose term has been used by manufacturers to denote a food that is reduced in salt, fat, sugar or lighter in color or texture. FDA says it is considering a regulation governing the use of "light."

labeling information more accessible to the consumer. As we've already seen, deciphering today's labels can be a time-consuming task, but that may be a function of the wide range of choices available in today's supermarket. The answer may not be to make labels simpler, but to make sure the consumer can choose products based on the best available information.

—Imitation: A product that has fewer vitamins, minerals, or less protein than the "regular" food it resembles.

—Fuzzy Terms: The following terms are not well defined. If you see these words on a label, you may want to seek additional information either from the label or from the manufacturer.

—Natural: This frequently used term is not defined by FDA. USDA regulations allow —No Sugar Added: Typically, this expression is used to tell consumers that a product containing naturally occurring sugars is unsweetened.

Products such as juices and apple sauce are frequently labeled "no sugar added" or "unsweetened" to indicate that the only sweeteners in the product are naturally occurring.

However, many products, such as canned fruits and cereals, contain added sweeteners in the form of juice, and in this case "no sugar added" is misleading. One cereal product, for example, says "no sugar added"

Its current policy is to consider "light" a claim for low or reduced calories unless another meaning is apparent, as in light brown sugar (as opposed to dark).

After several years of labeling inactivity, FDA appears to be on the threshold of initiating fundamental changes in some aspects of food labeling. In addition to finalizing the cholesterol regulations just noted, the agency is considering establishing definitions for terms such as "fat free," "low fat," and "reduced fat."

FDA is also expected to look at ways of making nutrition

Inexpensive brunch features four food groups

"My sister Kathy (or brother Mark, or Mom and Dad, or Aunt Ann and Uncle Paul) is coming to visit from out-of-town! What to fix for brunch? Something more creative than bacon and eggs...colorful and tasty...something that won't take a lot of time or money, either..."

"Let's see...I'll start with some sausage and eggs. Eggs are inexpensive and full of protein, vitamins and minerals. Make some toast, thaw a package of broccoli. A casserole—that's a good idea! I can make it ahead of time and serve it right out of the dish."

Toast on the bottom, topped with scrambled eggs and sausage, some shredded cheese, more toast, broccoli and...how 'bout tomato slices and more cheese on top for color? That's all four of the basic food groups in one dish!"

"It's amazing how much you can do with scrambled eggs. Sometimes I throw together a quick dinner with eggs and the dabs 'n' dabs of leftovers cluttering the refrigerator. They're good in a sandwich for lunch, too. And, eggs scramble up in no time in the microwave oven."

"Oops...the doorbell...they're here! If they ask, I'll say we're eating Karen's Brunch Collage."

KAREN'S BRUNCH COLLAGE

6 servings

8 ounces bulk pork sausage

8 eggs

1 cup milk, divided

1 teaspoon onion salt

1/2 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed

1/4 teaspoon pepper

6 slices whole wheat bread, toasted and cut in half, divided

1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese, divided

1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped broccoli, thawed and drained

4 thin slices tomato

In large skillet over medium heat, cook sausage, stirring occasionally, until lightly browned. Beat together eggs, 1/2 cup of the milk, and seasonings until blended. Pour over sausage. Gently scramble. Remove from heat.

In greased 8 x 8 x 2-inch baking dish, evenly layer 1/2 of the toast slices, scrambled egg mixture, 1/2 of the cheese and remaining toast slices. Pour remaining 1/2 cup milk over top. Sprinkle with broccoli. Top with tomato slices and remaining cheese.

Cover and bake in preheated 350° F. oven until warmed through, about 25 minutes. Cut into squares to serve.

Alternative to taco salad found recipe

Cornbread salad, the grassroots choice of Texans, has been trucking up the food trend ladder. Its popularity has rapidly spread throughout the cornbread-loving Southern states where the salads have been spotted at church suppers, potluck dinners, picnics and on buffet tables from Amarillo, Texas, to Athens, Ga.

Cornbread salad is a great substitute for other conventional favorites. This new classic is prepared in the same fashion as potato or macaroni salad and usually contains many of the same ingredients.

An easy-to-prepare cornbread mix is baked, cooled and crumbled. Then colorful fresh vegetables and a tangy, creamy dressing are added.

Ways to prepare one is limited only to the cook's imagination because cornbread can carry a myriad of flavors. And the cornbread doesn't really get soggy, it simply adds a hearty texture and taste.

Beautifully layered and colorful, Mexican Cornbread Salad makes a satisfying meal in itself or is a delicious accompaniment for a spicy south-of-the-border beef or chicken entree.

A variation of a taco salad, the tortilla chips are replaced with savory Mexican cornbread prepared in no time from a mix. Pinto beans, a fresh "pico de gallo" mixture of chopped tomato, onion and jalapeno peppers, Monterey Jack cheese and crisp bacon are layered with the crumbled cornbread. The salad dressing is a lively mixture of bottled salsa and dairy sour cream.

For additional Southern cornbread recipes, write to Southern Cornbreads, Martha White Kitchen, P.O. Box 58, Dept. GG5, Nashville, TN 37202.

TEX-MEX CORNBREAD SALAD
1 package (64 ounces) Mexican Cornbread Mix, prepared according to package directions

2 cans (15 ounces each) pinto beans, drained

2 cups chopped tomatoes (about 2 large)

1 cup chopped green onions

1/2 cup chopped green pepper

1/4 to 1/2 cup chopped and seeded jalapeno peppers

12 strips bacon, cooked and crumbled

2 cups (8 ounces) grated Monterey Jack cheese

1 cup (8 ounces) dairy sour cream

1 cup salsa

Additional sour cream and jalapeno pepper slices (optional)

Crumble half of prepared cornbread into bottom of large serving bowl. Top with half of beans. In another bowl, combine tomatoes, onions, green pepper and jalapeno pepper; blend well. Spread half of vegetable mixture over beans. Sprinkle with half of the bacon and half of the cheese.

Stir together sour cream and salsa in small bowl; spread half of dressing over cheese. Repeat layering procedure with remaining cornbread, beans, vegetables, bacon, cheese and dressing. Garnish with sour cream and jalapeno pepper slices, if desired. Cover tightly and chill 2 to 3 hours before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL JONES

Jones-Bernard

Dina Sue Bernard became the bride of Michael J. Jones in a candlelight double ring ceremony August 19 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Thomas Catholic Church. The Reverend Raul Garza celebrated a Nuptial Mass.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Bernard of Lakeshore. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jones of Long Beach.

Musical selections were presented by Thomas Bourdin of Pass Christian.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white bridal satin fashioned with sabrina neckline, long sleeves and basque waistline. Reembroidered Alencon lace heavily accented with pearls and iridescent adorned the gown, while soft gathers of satin formed the full skirt with large satin bow at the back waist. A sheer reembroidered lace panel etched with pearls extended to a cathedral length train. A pearl braid with flower spray on the side held a veil and pouf of silk illusion.

The bride carried a traditional bouquet of white roses, carnations and baby's breath. Brandy Strahan of Gulfport was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were April

Hardy of Gulfport, sister of the bride; Cynthia Stemple of Huntsville, Ala., sister of the groom; and Melissa Harvill and Patricia Garcia of Waveland, cousins of the bride.

Casey Bernard and Shannon Fayard of Waveland, cousins of the bride, were junior bridesmaid and flower girl, respectively.

Kevin Favre of Gulfport was best man.

Groomsmen were Greg Jones of League City, Tex. and Keith Jones of Gulfport, brothers of the groom; Alvin Bernard of Gulfport, brother of the bride; Dan Stemple of Huntsville, brother-in-law of the groom; and Bruce Gremillion of Long Beach.

Ushers were Rod Villere of New Orleans, uncle of the bride, and Matt Borzik of Long Beach, cousin of the groom.

Coloring contest benefits March of Dimes Foundation

Attention all children under age 14! Get your crayons, colored pencils or markers out and start coloring. Sanrio Inc., the creator of "Hello Kitty," is sponsoring a national coloring contest called "Color a Brighter Future for America's Children" to benefit the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation.

The grand prize, a trip to Japan for eight days and seven nights, will be awarded to the winning child and his/her family. More than 600 other prizes also will be given.

Winners will be chosen from four categories: five and younger, six through nine, 10 through 12 and 13 through 14. Selections will be based on neatness, use of color and overall artistic/creative effect of entries.

The contest began Sept. 1 and will end Oct. 31. To receive a coloring sheet with the contest rules and entry form, contact Bonnie Edwards, 625 Court-house Road, Suite 110, Gulfport, MS 39507 or telephone 896-0886.

When children participate in "Color a Brighter Future for America's Children," their parents can support March of Dimes programs to help babies get a healthy start in life by sending an optional donation with the entry.

Donations aid March of Dimes efforts to prevent birth defects and the related problems of low birthweight and infant death.

DISTINGUISHED ACHIEVEMENT—Charlie Henderson, left, of Charlie Henderson Ford receives a Distinguished Achievement Award for 1988 from New Orleans District Sales Manager Bob Jones. Henderson was chosen as one of 17 dealers in a five state region selected from 137 dealerships for displaying sales and service excellence.

MAGIC CARPET

ETV viewers can take a second magic carpet ride when the ETV original animated special "The Magic Carpet and Other Tales" is rebroadcast at 2 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 10.

Mason Adams, best known as Charlie Hume on television's "Lou Grant" series, is the tour guide for this journey into the magical world of genies, princesses and kings when Walter Anderson's drawings and the tantalizing tales of Ellen Douglas are brought to life on Mississippi ETV.

This half-hour special is based upon the book published by University Press of Mississippi.

REGIONAL SMH WOMEN'S CENTER

Especially for Women

THE TRUTH ABOUT EATING DISORDERS
Beth Bruns, SMH Dietitian
Stephen Southern, Ed.D. (Director SMH CDC)
Wednesday, September 13 / 7 PM

This program will address the causes and consequences of eating disorders, including compulsive overeating and bulimia. Problems in eating will be evaluated using the compulsive/addictive behavior model. We will explore relationships among eating disorders, sexism, co-dependency, and sexuality. Options for recovery will be identified. This FREE Regional Women's Center program will be held in the Women's Resource Suite.

BREASTFEEDING CLINIC
Renell Dore, La Leche League Leader
Monday, September 18 / 1 PM

This FREE Regional Women's Center program will be held in the Women's Resource Suite.

PARENT TO PARENT: HELP YOUR CHILD ACHIEVE A DRUG-FREE PASSAGE INTO ADULTHOOD
Patti Young
President of P.R.J.D.E. of St. Tammany, Inc., Facilitator
Monday, September 18-October 9 / 7 - 9 PM

PARENT TO PARENT may well be the most valuable time you will ever spend in helping your child become a fully functioning adult. PARENT TO PARENT is a video based workshop to help young people avoid drug problems by training their parents. PARENT TO PARENT produces the single most effective weapon in the fight against drugs, younger the better. Each family will receive a set of audio cassettes of their own to continue their training after the workshop ends. Materials included. There will be a $35 materials fee charged. This Regional Women's Center program will be held in the Women's Resource Suite.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

September is National Chicken Month, though it's almost "chicken month" for me all 'round the calendar, so fond am I of that so versatile of foods.

And our area supermarkets are certainly making it easier for us to celebrate Chicken Month without breaking the family budget, for there are extra-specials on display all 'round the area!

Pick up a 10-pound bag of fryer leg quarters at super-special savings at Winn-Dixie, and serve up a swift but festive and economical

BAKED CHICKEN WITH STUFFING POCKETS

It's ever so easy—lay the leg quarters in a shallow baking pan or dish, skin side down, and fill the indentations with scoops of packaged stuffing prepared according to package directions—that's all there is to it! Bake as usual, and enjoy. You might want to cook up an extra dish of the stuffing, for those stuffing-lovers!

National offers all sorts of savings in its big Half-Price Sale now in progress. Among the extra-special "goodies" are split breasts of chicken, always a treat. So, let's cook!

CHICKEN BREASTS WITH BACON

(another quickie-easy)
6 chicken breasts, skin removed
1 pkg. (8 oz.) cream cheese
3 or 4 green onions, tops and stalks
12 strips bacon
Fresh ground pepper, salt as desired
(If you want to be extra fancy, bone the breasts, but this dish is good otherwise as well.)
Dust breasts liberally with pepper, and salt if you wish. Cream together an 8-oz. package cream cheese and the chopped green onions. Spread some of the mixture on each breast, top with the bacon; at this point, if you've boned the breasts, fold them over the filling and secure with a toothpick or skewer. If not, cook as they are. —For boned beasts, folded, broil for approximately half an hour, several inches from flame, turning when they seem in need of it, until the bacon is well done. If breasts are not boned, bake in a 350 oven for 30 minutes, or more as needed, and run under broiler briefly to brown the bacon. (Six servings.)

You can pick up the bacon for this recipe at special prices at Jitney Jungle, and National has three-pound packages of bacon seasoning (partial slices) at extra-special low price. National has drumsticks and thighs on extra-special, also.

If you get some of the delicious, seedless green grapes on special at Delchamps and Winn-Dixie, you can quickly fix elegant:

CHICKEN WITH WINE AND GREEN GRAPES

For this dish, simply saute slices of chicken breast or thigh in a bit of butter or margarine, then splash with white wine, stirring to loosen those lovely "burnings" from the bottom of the pan, then add seedless grapes as desired, stir a bit more, and serve with rice.

You may also use drumsticks or thighs or a cut up fryer in this dish, adjusting amounts of wine and grapes, of course.

Take advantage of the special three-pound bags of onions at Delchamps, along with some of the oranges Jitney Jungle offers, and assemble this:

ORANGE AND ONION SALAD

4 small to medium oranges
2 large onions
Chicory, green leaf or other lettuce variety
4 Tbsp. olive oil
1 Tbsp. lemon juice
Freshly ground pepper, salt optional
Fresh rosemary leaves of tiny bit of dried rosemary, optional Peel and thickly slice the oranges and onions, removing all the bitter white pith from the oranges. Arrange on bed of greens.

Combine the oil, lemon juice, pepper, salt and rosemary to your taste, and pour over the salad. (Four servings.)

Jitney Jungle has "gone" Hawaiian with a big Hawaiian Sale—featuring fresh pineapple, canned pineapple items, chilled juice—and a chance to win a Hawaiian Holiday for TWO!

Fresh Coconuts are specially priced also. And Delchamps offers honeydews, and apples are on special at Winn-Dixie—so why not mix up a huge bowl of all sorts of fresh fruit and enjoy! Here's a delicious FRUIT MINGLE, which keeps in the refrigerator for several days, so you can feast upon it as you wish.

1 honey dew melon, halved
1 large canteloupe, halved
10 pink grapefruits, peeled and sectioned
10 oranges, peeled and sectioned
1 pineapple, peeled and cubed (or 1 can (20 oz.) pineapple chunks in own juice)
6 to 8 medium bananas, cut into 1/4-inch slices
1/2 lb. seedless green grapes
Scoop out melon balls, or peel melons and cut into cubes. Combine all ingredients in a large plastic bowl or other container. Stir gently to coat bananas with fruit juices and prevent darkening.
Cover tightly, and chill well. (20 servings.)

Public Notices

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

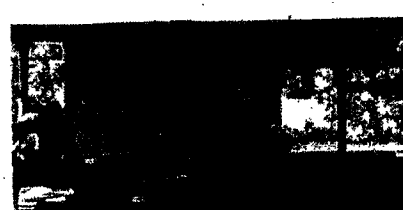

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids for the construction of a multi-use pre-engineered metal storage warehouse, and related work, at Port Blenville Industrial Park will be received by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission at their office on Mississippi Highway 603 until 10:00 A.M. o'clock, local time, October 5, 1989, then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.
The General Requirements, Proposal Form, Contract Form, Performance and Payment Bond Form, Plans, Specifications, and other Contract Documents are on file and may be examined at the office of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, Mississippi Highway 603, Waveland, Mississippi, during regular working hours.
A complete set of the Contract Documents may be obtained at said Port and Harbor Office or at Cortich, Inc., Consulting Engineers, 833 Hancock Square, Suite A, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, by licensed Contractors upon payment of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each set. This payment is non-refundable.
Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check, cashier's check, or bid bond acceptable to the Owner, in the amount equal to at least five percent (5%) of the total amount bid and payable without conditions to the Owner as a guarantee that the bidder, if awarded the Contract, will promptly execute a contract in accordance with his proposal and all terms and conditions of the Contract Documents.
Additionally, all prospective bidders are cautioned that, in order to be valid, all Bids must clearly show the Contractor's Mississippi Certificate of Responsibility Number on the outside of the bid envelope.
The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or to reject any or all bids.
No bid may be withdrawn or modified within sixty (60) days after the actual date of opening thereof.

ORDER OF THE GOVERNING AUTHORITIES
OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MS
INTENT TO TRANSFER FUNDS

WHEREAS, Section 27-105-367 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, allows for municipal governing authorities to transfer any balance remaining in a special fund in the treasury of the municipality, to the general fund to be used for general purposes for the succeeding fiscal year, if the purpose for which the special fund was created has been fully carried out, and
WHEREAS, the City of Bay St. Louis has surplus funds in the amount of $67,663.04 deposited in the Special Street Improvement Bond Sinking Fund that it wishes to transfer to the General fund, and
WHEREAS, the purpose for which the said Special Street Improvement Bond Sinking Fund was created have been fully carried out and all obligations relating thereto have been satisfied in full, NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE GOVERNING AUTHORITIES OF THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, that $67,663.04 currently on account in the Special Street Improvement Bond Sinking Fund be transferred to the General Fund.
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED by the governing authorities that in accordance with Section 27-105-367 (b), that the intent to transfer said funds from the Special Street Improvement Bond Sinking Fund to the General Fund be published in some newspaper having a general circulation in the municipality for three consecutive weeks.
BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that thereafter, the monies shall be transferred as stated in this resolution not less than 30 days after the first publication in the newspaper as above stated, unless within said 30 days, a petition against the proposed transfer, signed by twenty percent of 1500, whichever is less, of the qualified electors residing in the municipality, shall be filed with the City Council.
Councilman Favre moved, seconded by Councilman Rutherford that the foregoing resolution entitled "Intent to Transfer Funds," be approved.
There being no further discussion on the matter a roll call vote was had with the following results:
VOTING YEA: Solomani, Farve, and Rutherford; Voting NAY, none. Absent and not voting Thriftly and Wikerson.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

Adult Literacy Education

Tutoring sessions for adults who want to learn to read and write are available through the Hancock County Library System. The program is open free of charge to any adult aged 16 and above who wants to improve reading skills to a grade five level.

Each student meets one-on-one with a certified tutor trained in the use of the Laubach Adult Literacy method. Student/tutor units meet at a time and learning center convenient to both. Learning centers for literacy are currently located in Bay St. Louis, Kiln, Waveland, Diamondhead, Dedeaux, Clermont Harbor and Pearllington.

Call the Bay St. Louis Library, 467-5282, for information. Persons who wish to teach adults to read as volunteer literacy tutors are also encouraged to call.

Blood Pressure

Retired Senior Volunteer Program sponsors free blood pressure testing Tuesdays, 9:30-11:30 a.m.; American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland; Wednesdays, 10:30-11:30 a.m., RSVP office, Senior Citizens Center, Old Spanish Trail, Bay St. Louis.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary (Pink Ladies) conducts free blood pressure testing at the hospital, 10-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays.

Legal Line

Volunteer attorneys answer legal questions from the general public from 6 to 7 p.m., first Wednesdays at 1-374-4160. The service is sponsored by Harrison County Young Lawyers, South Mississippi Planning and Development District Area Agency on Aging and South Mississippi Legal Services Corporation.

Money Management

public by providing free financial consultations as well as informational literature and seminars for employers, educational institutions and civic and professional groups.

Information and assistance from the center relates to various aspects of personal money management including budgeting, credit repayment, insurance, and investments.

The service is sponsored by Mississippi State University and Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. To set up an appointment call Hancock County Extension Office, 467-5456.

Senior Center

Located in the Valena C. Jones Bldg. at 301 Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis, the center serves Hancock County citizens 60 plus years of age.

Under the Hancock County Human Resource Agency, the center provides classes in ceramics, macramé, art, quilting, counted cross stitch, silk flowers, Christmas ornaments, framing, wood working and various other crafts. A morning snack is provided with donations from various clubs and businesses.

The center has a contract to provide 30 home delivered meals a day to those seniors who cannot provide for themselves, and 35 meals for those who have a need for a hot well-balanced meal daily in the cafeteria at the center.

Transportation is provided through a contract with Coast Area Transportation for most seniors in the county to bring them into the center, or to take them to the grocery, doctor, etc.

The contract with Methodist Senior Services provides two homemakers for about two hours a week to homebound, needy seniors to do light house-keeping or errands for them.

For more information, call the center at 467-9292 from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Senior Citizen Jobs

Seniors Job Registry, Russell Youth Court Building, 126 Court Street, Bay St. Louis, offers placement services to employees and employers.

The registry is a free community service provided by National Council of Senior Citizens Senior Aides Program funded by the Department of Labor through South Mississippi Planning and Development District.

The registry attempts to place seniors 55 years old or older in hourly, daily, weekly or monthly positions, according to Gertrude Sauer, coordinator.

Call 467-7945 for additional information. Office hours are 8 a.m. to noon Mondays through Fridays.

Thrift Store

Waveland Conference, St. Vincent de Paul Society operates a thrift store, Waveland Civic Center, Coleman Avenue, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. Proceeds benefit needy regardless of race or religion. 467-0703.
